Article VI. Elections.

A. Elections for the Executive Board shall be held before the second Monday after the first Sunday in March.

B. All Executive Board positions shall be up for election each year, with the exception of two Advisory Board Members.

1. The Advisory Board Member will each serve 3-year terms
2. One Advisory Board Member will be up for election each year.
3. For the 2020 election, one position will be a 1-year term, one will be a 2-year term, and the last shall be the normal 3-year term.

C. All Society members at the time the election is held shall be sent notice of the meeting not less than two weeks before it is held.

D. The President shall act as presiding officer of the election meeting unless he or she is a candidate for a position. If so, upon being nominated for a position, the President shall relinquish the chair to the next officer in precedence who is present and not a candidate for that position. The President shall resume the chair when the position has been filled or the meeting moves to nominations for other positions. These requirements shall also apply to another officer acting as presiding officer in the President's absence.

E. The election process shall be as follows:

1. Elections shall begin with nominations and balloting for President and shall proceed in the order of Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary, Ticket Manager, Program Editor, Company Promoter, and Advisory Member(s).

2. The constitutional requirements for all Executive Board positions shall be announced at the start of the meeting, and, when relevant, before nominations for each position.
3. After the presiding officer announces the opening of nominations for a position, the incumbent or presiding officer shall describe the duties of that position, using the Society Constitution, Bylaws, and other job descriptions as a basis for the comments.
4. Each candidate for a position shall be nominated by two current Society members.
5. Once nominations for a position are complete, the candidates may speak briefly and briefly field germane questions from the voters.
6. After speaking, candidates shall leave the election room, and their nominators may comment briefly on the merits of the nominees. The voters may then discuss the merits of the nominees, but no person shall speak twice before all other voters wishing to speak have spoken at least once. The presiding officer shall have the sole and final authority to limit the discussion to statements germane to the proceedings. The presiding officer shall also have the sole and final authority to enforce or relax time restrictions or restrictions on number of comments from all voters, providing that such limits are made before discussion begins, and all voters are given reasonable opportunity to speak.
7. After discussion for a position is complete, the candidates shall be called back into the room and balloting shall begin.
8. Paper ballots shall be used for all positions sought by more than one candidate. Simple voice vote may be used for unopposed candidates.
9. No absentee or proxy voting shall be permitted.
10. After balloting for a position is complete, the presiding officer and the Secretary shall collect and privately tally the ballots, with another officer who is not a candidate for that position filling in for the Secretary if the Secretary is absent or a candidate for that position. Faculty Advisors may witness the counting and tabulation of the ballots if they so desire.
11. Ballots shall be counted only if they have been cast for candidates who have been duly nominated and have not explicitly removed themselves from consideration.
12. The candidate who receives a majority of all valid ballots for the position shall be declared the winner. If no candidate receives a majority, the candidate receiving the lowest vote total shall be eliminated and a fresh vote shall be taken. This process shall continue until one candidate receives a majority.
13. In the event of a tie between the two final candidates for a position, the existing Executive Board members (excepting any remaining candidates for the position in question) and Faculty Advisors present shall cast additional ballots amongst themselves to break the tie, or declare a winner by some other equitable means.
14. An individual may be nominated and elected in absentia, and may send a short statement to be read to the voters by a Society member, in lieu of personally making a statement after being nominated.

15. Should no person be nominated for a position, nominations for that position shall be suspended and nominations for the next position shall begin. Nominations for a position unfilled at the end of elections shall then be reopened. If no candidate then emerges, that position shall be considered open and shall be treated by the newly elected Executive Board as a normally occurring vacancy as governed by the Society Constitution and Bylaws. Should four or more positions, excluding the Advisory Members, remain vacant after elections, the entire election meeting shall be declared null and void and the existing Executive Board shall schedule another timely election meeting.

F. Any disputes over electoral procedure shall ordinarily be dealt with by the presiding officer, using the Society Constitution and Bylaws, and Robert's Rules of Order, for issues on which the Society Constitution and Bylaws are silent, as guides. Should the problem prove irresolvable by these means, the Faculty Advisors present, in their capacity as members of the Interpretation Committee (whether or not a quorum of the committee is present), shall resolve the conflict. The solution of the Faculty Advisors shall be final.

Article VII. Meetings.

A. In addition to the requirements enumerated in Article VI of the Society Constitution, Executive Board meetings shall be:

1. Held every week during terms in which shows are being produced, and at other times as deemed necessary.
2. Attended by Executive Board members as often as possible. Repeated failure to attend meetings shall be considered sufficient reason for recall of an officer as governed by Article IV, Section F of the Society Constitution.

B. Decisions of the Executive Board need not be made in person, but instead may be made by other means, such as e-mail or telephone, as necessary. Such decisions shall still be subject to appropriate quorum and majority requirements, as defined in the Society Constitution and Bylaws. This section shall not excuse the Executive Board from holding weekly meetings as scheduled and announced to the Society. In addition:

1. Two or fewer members of the Advisory Board may substitute for regular members at meetings of the Executive Board, for purposes of achieving quorum.
2. Substitution of an Advisory Board member shall be made by prior designation of the Board President for an expected absence, or by majority approval of regular members present for an emergent absence, of an Executive Board member.
3. Advisory Board members substituting for Executive Board members to achieve quorum shall exercise voting privileges only for business that must be resolved prior to the next regular meeting of the Executive Board; otherwise, voting should be deferred and completed at a subsequent meeting of the Executive Board, or by alternate means as specified.
4. Advisory Board members substituting for Executive Board members for purposes of quorum shall never constitute a majority of voting members present.
5. Advisory Board members with the longest continuous service shall be given priority for substitution, under the guidelines listed above.
6. Executive Board members unavailable for an Executive Board meeting shall make every effort to communicate the status of their particular board business to an Advisory Board member designated to substitute for them at that meeting.
7. Advisory Board members may substitute for any particular member of the Executive Board no more than once per calendar month.

8. Advisory Board members on the current production staff shall be ineligible to vote.

C. Production staff meetings shall:

1. Be held periodically during the course of the term in which a show is produced.
2. Include all elected members of the Executive Board and all production staff appointees as necessary and appropriate.
3. Be duly publicized.
4. Be open to all Society members.
5. Be used to discuss and resolve artistic, technical, and budgetary matters of the production.

Article VIII. Honoraria.

A. Pecuniary rewards may be given to persons whom the Executive Board has deemed deserving of them, only in the form of an honorarium or gift upon the completion of a production, and only if the financial condition of the Society so permits, in the sole judgment of the Executive Board.

B. Promise of payment or honorarium made by any person(s) shall not be binding upon the Society or its members in any way, unless approved by the Executive Board after completion of the production.

C. No member of the Executive Board shall receive an honorarium.

Article IX. Auxiliary Groups.

A. Auxiliary groups operating in concert with the Society shall be divided as follows:

1. Affiliated groups are those groups which are independent from the Society but may work with the Society from time to time for the mutual benefit of both. Affiliations with independent groups must be sanctioned by the current Executive Board in order for the affiliation to remain in effect. Membership in affiliated groups does not by itself constitute membership in the Society, and the current Executive Board shall have the sole discretion to decide the terms on which the affiliation will operate.

2. Sponsored groups are those which are dependent upon the Society, at least in part, for financial or organizational support. Sponsorship of such groups must be sanctioned by the current Executive Board in order to remain in effect. Membership in sponsored groups, insofar as it constitutes contribution to the Society under Article III of the Society Constitution, interpreted by the Executive Board, shall constitute membership in the Society. Sponsored groups may use the Society's name, and shall operate in all matters under the ultimate authority of the Executive Board.

B. Auxiliary groups shall not by themselves determine Society policy.

Article X. Amendment, Effect, and Supersession.

- A. These Bylaws shall be amended only as provided in Article VII of the Society Constitution.
- B. Amendments to these Bylaws shall not conflict with the Society Constitution.
- C. An amendment or addition to a provision in these Bylaws shall not conflict with another provision without including amendments to both provisions.
- D. These Bylaws shall be amended as necessary to reflect amendments to the Society Constitution.
- E. Amendments to these Bylaws shall take immediate effect, unless otherwise mandated in the amendment itself. But the Executive Board shall not schedule an amendment to take effect during the official term of an incoming or future Executive Board.
- F. These Bylaws as a whole shall supercede all prior bylaws, rules, and policies enacted by the Society, except the Society Constitution.
